Tomorrow evening, Thursday, Dec. 19, 2013, at 5:30 p.m., 310 Abeyta will be the last meeting of the SEC Board of Trustees for the year 2013. It will also be the last meeting of the old board of seven. 2014 will mark the long awaited move to the 5 member board for which the members have worked so hard and so long. This meeting will also mark the last attempt of the old board to manipulate and hurt the members. See Section M. "Subjects by trustees" wherein this old board will attempt to appoint new members to Tri-state and NMRECA instead of leaving those appointments to the new board. Don Wolberg will deliver his last of his diatribe reports as representative to the NMRECA and Tri-state boards for which all but six of the SEC members will be grateful. A first at this meeting will be Section G. "Attorney Report" We have all witnessed the attorneys (and we do have many) take over many of the functions and rights of the members over the last few years culminating with the announcement that the District 3 trustee election was invalid. This report should be interesting.

Let us all hope that the New Year and the new Board of Trustees will be one of moving forward and respect for the rights of the SEC Members.
